Intent Setting

“Our work for peace must begin within the private world of each one of us. To build for man a world without fear, we must be without fear.

To build a world of justice, we must be just. And how can we fight for liberty if we are not free in our own minds?

How can we ask others to sacrifice if we are not ready to do so?...

Only in true surrender to the interest of all can we reach that strength and independence, that unity of purpose, that equity of judgment which are necessary if we are to measure up to our duty to the future, as men of a generation to whom the chance was given to build in time a world of peace.”

Dag Hammarskjöld, 2nd Secretary General of the United Nations

Welcome Message

Dear all,

On behalf of all our partners and colleagues, we invite you to raise your voices and take them towards action for a better future with improved lives for all. Our endeavour with these dialogues is to get people together from all walks of life and creating a safe, open, warm, respectful space towards well informed dialogues based on intercultural, intergenerational and intersectional dissuasion towards a shared vision which keeps humans at the centre. My hope is that when you join our voices, you are able to recognise the power of your voice not just in this movement but also in your communities and in this life. Through your courage, we will steer ourselves towards a safer, inclusive, compassionate future which is mindful of it’s relationship with nature and bio-diversity, as it is of every human being. My only request to you is to do everything in your capacity to support and drive those voices ahead which are not often heard or shut down through power structures.

Love, Respect and Hope,

Keshav Gupta, Program Director, The Dais Global Voices Program
